The Tradition

Consistency. It is the mark of true excellence in any endeavor.

However, in today's intercollegiate athletics, competition has become so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency.

Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Now in its 54th year of competition, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate athletic conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.

Since the league's inception in 1953, ACC schools have captured 100 national championships, including 52 in women's competition and 48 in men's. In addition, NCAA individual titles have gone to ACC student-athletes 130 times in men's competition and 71 times in women's action.

The Wake Forest Demon Deacons captured the league's first baseball national title in 1954, just the second season of ACC baseball. The Miami Hurricanes, who joined the ACC for the 2004-05 season, have claimed four national hardball titles (1982, 1985, 1999, 2001) over the past 24 years.

Last year, the ACC tied the league record set in 2005 as seven teams took part in NCAA Tournament play, including Clemson, Florida State, Georgia Tech, Miami, North Carolina, N.C. State and Virginia. It marked the fourth time in ACC history that at least six teams received a bid into the national tournament. Over the last 10 years, the current 12 ACC schools have made 65 NCAA Tournament appearances, winning 65 percent of their games (219-139) and making 16 trips to the College World Series.

For the first time in conference history, the ACC sent a league-record four teams to compete in the 2006 College World Series. The ACC joined the Southeastern Conference as the only two conferences in the nation to have four teams represented in the eight-team field as Clemson, Georgia Tech, Miami and North Carolina all advanced to play in Omaha's Rosenblatt Stadium. It marked only the third time in the 60 years of the CWS that this feat has happened. North Carolina proceeded to the championship final for the first time in school history where the Tar Heels faced Oregon State in a best-of-three championship series. The Beavers would win the series 2-1, but not before a valiant effort put forth by the Tar Heels.

The 2006 ACC baseball postseason was one for the record books. Not only did the ACC finish with the most wins (31) and the highest winning percentage (.674) among the 29 other conferences competing in last year's NCAA postseason, but the ACC also set a league record for the most teams to make it to the CWS. With a 31-15 record, the ACC posted a winning percentage of .674, the third best postseason showing in conference history.

For the 15th straight season, the ACC posted a non-conference winning percentage over 61 percent, winning 75 percent of the games played against non-conference opponents in 2006. The ACC was 255-86-1 a year ago, pushing the conference's record to 3,669-1,470-19 (.713) in non-league play since 1990. The 255 wins set a league record for non-conference victories in a single-season. The previous record of 249 wins was set back in 2002.

2006 also marked the first season in divisional play for the ACC as Clemson claimed the Atlantic Division title, while North Carolina took home the Coastal Division crown. The Baseball Grounds of Jacksonville was the site of the 33rd ACC Baseball Championship. The Tigers would claim their ninth conference title and first since 1994, as Clemson defeated N.C. State 8-4 in the championship game. The finals also marked the second straight year that the top-seeded team in the tournament faced the seventh-seed. A championship record 73,251 fans were in attendance during the five-day tournament in Jacksonville.

A History

The Atlantic Coast Conference was founded on May 8, 1953, at the Sedgefield Inn near Greensboro, N.C., with seven charter members - Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, N.C. State, South Carolina and Wake Forest - drawing up the conference by-laws.

The withdrawal of seven schools from the Southern Conference came early on the morning of May 8, 1953, during the Southern Conference's annual spring meeting. On June 14, 1953, the seven members met in Raleigh, N.C., where a set of bylaws was adopted and the name became officially the Atlantic Coast Conference.

On December 4, 1953, conference officials met again at Sedgefield and officially admitted the University of Virginia as the league's eighth member. The first, and only, withdrawal of a school from the ACC came on June 30, 1971, when the University of South Carolina tendered its resignation.

The ACC operated with seven members until April 3, 1978, when the Georgia Institute of Technology was admitted. The Atlanta school had withdrawn from the Southeastern Conference in January of 1964.

The ACC expanded to nine members on July 1, 1991, with the addition of Florida State University.

The conference expanded to 11 members on July 1, 2004, with the addition of the University of Miami and Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University. On October 17, 2003, Boston College accepted an invitation to become the league's 12th member starting July 1, 2005.
