RAMSEY SMITH

Head Coach • Ninth Season at Duke • Duke, 2001

Ramsey Smith enters his ninth season as the Duke men's tennis head coach. He was named the 11th head coach in program history in June, 2008.

Smith, a former Duke men's tennis standout, returned to his alma mater in the 2005-06 season as an assistant coach. He served on the Blue Devils' coaching staff for three seasons as an assistant and associate head coach prior to accepting the head coaching position.

In eight seasons at the helm of the Duke program, Smith has compiled an overall record of 163-69 and a 65-24 Atlantic Coast Conference ledger with six 20-win seasons in the last seven campaigns. He has taken the Blue Devils to the NCAA Championship in seven of his eight seasons, winning the first round match each time the program has qualified and advancing to the round of 16 five times.

Under his watch, Duke has had one ITA National Doubles Team of the Year and one ITA National Rookie of the Year. Smith has helped produce three All-Americans who have received nine accolades, three ITA Regional Seniors of the Year, two ITA Regional Rookies of the Year, one ITA Regional Player to Watch, one ITA Senior Most Improved Player, two ITA Regional Arthur Ashe Sportsmanship & Leadership Award winners and one national recipient, two ACC Players of the Year, one ACC Rookie of the Year, 19 All-ACC accolades and 26 All-ACC Academic Team selections.

The 2016 campaign produced a second straight first team All-ACC accolade for Nicolas Alvarez as the Blue Devils' usual starting lineup was one of the youngest in the country wth three freshmen, one sophomore, one junior and one senior. Smith moved into third place on the school's all-time wins list during the season with the 160th victory of his career, a 5-2 triumph against Boston College.

Smith became the fourth coach in program history to reach the 150-win milestone during the 2015 campaign when Duke topped Miami 4-0 in the first round of the ACC Championship. The 2015 season saw Smith help the Blue Devils to a 24-7 record and climb to No. 2 in the ITA poll, their highest ranking since 2000. Smith guided Duke to its sixth consecutive 20-win campaign, 24th straight NCAA Team Championship bid and to the NCAA round of 16.

Duke got to the NCAA's final 16 after winning both matches of the NCAA Durham Regional. The Blue Devils defeated South Carolina State 5-0 and No. 23 Stanford 4-1 in Durham to finish the year 16-0 inside Ambler Tennis Stadium, marking the ninth time in program history a squad has gone undefeated at home.

Smith also saw a trio of players reach 100 career singles wins in 2015, tied for the most in a year in program history. Senior Raphael Hemmeler, redshirt senior Chris Mengel and senior Jason Tahir all reached the 100-win plateau. Hemmeler, Tahir and freshman Alvarez represented Duke at the NCAA Singles Championship with Alvarez and Hemmeler in the NCAA Doubles Championship.

Duke posted a program-record 10 ACC victories in 2014, fueled by a nine-match win streak in conference play that began with a 4-3 upset of No. 9 Notre Dame and also included a win over No. 8 North Carolina in the season finale. Under Smith's direction, the squad finished the year 20-7 and made the program's 23rd consecutive appearance in the NCAA Championship tournament, falling in the second round to Tennessee. Fred Saba and Tahir both represented the Blue Devils in the NCAA Singles Championship, while Saba also eclipsed the 100-win milestone in singles during the spring and closed his career as the program record holder in ACC singles victories with 35 over four seasons. He was joined by Tahir, Hemmeler and Bruno Semenzato in earning All-ACC recognition. Hemmeler also received the ITA Regional Arthur Ashe Sportsmanship & Leadership award.

The Blue Devils finished the 2013 campaign 25-6 to match the 1999, 2000 and 2012 squads for the second most wins in program history. The team was ranked seventh in the final ITA rankings for the highest final team ranking since 2006. The Blue Devils advanced to the quarterfinals of the NCAA Championship for the eighth time overall and the second consecutive season. Henrique Cunha, Saba and Michael Redlicki competed in the NCAA Singles Championship, while Cunha and Hemmeler as well as Redlicki and Tahir competed in the doubles competition. Cunha and Hemmeler reached the semifinals of the competition to earn All-America honors and concluded the season as the nation's top-ranked duo. The squad completed the regular season second in the ACC standings with a 9-1 ledger and finished with an undefeated 15-0 mark at home for the first time since the 2000-01 campaign. Cunha, Saba and Redlicki were selected to the All-ACC team, with Cunha earning ACC Player of the Year recognition for the second time in his four seasons. Duke also led the conference in representatives on the All-ACC Academic Team. Chuna became the second Blue Devil in program history to win the ITA National Arthur Ashe Sportsmanship & Leadership Award after current Duke Associate Head Coach Jonathan Stokke in 2006.

In 2012, the Blue Devils finished the year 25-6 and ranked eighth in the final ITA poll. The team advanced to the quarterfinals of the NCAA Championship for the first time since 2001, while Cunha and Mengel also competed in the NCAA Singles and Doubles Championships. Duke concluded ACC play with a 9-2 mark to finish second in the final regular season standings and played for the ACC Championship for the third straight year. Cunha and Mengel were selected to the All-ACC team and Saba paced the squad with a 10-1 record in ACC singles play, joining teammates Mengel and Luke Marchese as the only Blue Devils in program history to reach the 10-wins mark in league matches.

In 2011 Smith led the Blue Devils to a 22-10 overall record, the school's highest win total since 2006. Duke went 9-2 in ACC play to tie for second in the conference and made the ACC Championship finals. Smith also guided his squad to the round of 16 in the NCAA Championship and the semifinals of the ITA National Team Indoor Championships. He coached three players to 30-win seasons in singles, marking just the third time it has happened in school history. Both Reid Carleton and Cunha received All-America honors in singles and doubles. The two players advanced to the quarterfinals in the NCAA doubles championships while Cunha also made the quarterfinals in singles and Carleton the Round of 64.

In 2010 Smith was named the ITA Carolina Region Coach of the Year after leading Duke to its best season since 2006. The Blue Devils advanced to the NCAA round of 16 and made the finals of the ACC Championship for the first time since winning the title in 2006. Duke finished the season with a 20-9 record and was second in the ACC at 9-2. Smith coached Cunha to one of the best seasons in school history, as Cunha earned ITA National Rookie of the Year and ACC Player of the Year honors while receiving the No. 1 seed in both singles and doubles at the NCAA Championship. Cunha made the semifinals in singles and teamed with Carleton to earn All-America status by reaching the quarterfinals in doubles. The duo was named the ITA National Doubles Team of the Year after ranking No. 1 in each of the final five polls.

In his first season as the Blue Devils' head coach, Smith guided Duke to a 16-9 record and 7-4 mark in the ACC in 2009. The first-year head coach turned things around for the program, posting a .640 winning percentage after the team went 11-14 (.440) in 2008, its first losing season since 1970. The Blue Devils advanced to the second round of the NCAA Championship tournament and finished the year ranked No. 23 nationally. Kiril Dimitrov was named to the All-ACC squad.

Smith has excelled on the recruiting front. His first year he brought in Cunha, who earned ITA National Rookie of the Year honors. The second class under Smith was ranked No. 1 in 2011 according to Tennisrecruiting.net. The three players in the class combined to win 62 singles matches as freshmen, led by Mengel who went 33-11 and earned ITA Regional Rookie of the Year honors. In his third signing class, Smith picked up his second international recruit with Hemmeler, from Switzerland, and also signed blue chip recruit Tahir, a top-10 player from New York. The two combined for 52 wins in singles as freshmen and Hemmeler won a team-high 30 doubles matches.

In his fourth class, Smith brought in the No. 3 class according to Tennisrecruiting.net. He signed his third international recruit with Semenzato of Brazil in 2012 and his fourth with Alvarez of Peru arriving in the fall of 2014. The 2015 and 2016 freshman classes were ranked No. 2 and No. 3, respectively, according to Tennisrecruiting.net.

During his three seasons as an assistant coach, Smith helped Duke to a 49-31 overall record and 23-10 mark in the ACC. Under his tutelage, the Blue Devils produced five All-Americans, eight All-ACC selections and one ACC Championship MVP. Duke made the NCAA Championship tournament each year, advancing as far as the round of 16 in 2006. That season, the Blue Devils captured the ACC Championship with a 4-3 win in the finals over Virginia after trailing 3-0.

Also while an assistant coach at Duke, Smith started the Royal Blue Club, a Duke tennis fan club that gives special promotions for men's and women's matches. Smith has also helped the Blue Devils raise money for new indoor and outdoor courts and scoreboards as well as a new video system with cameras on all six indoor and outdoor courts.

A native of Hilton Head, S.C., Smith lettered four seasons at Duke from 1998-2001 and ranks third all-time in school history with 118 career singles victories. He helped the Blue Devils to four-year records of 96-11 overall and an undefeated 32-0 mark in conference regular season action. From 1998-2001 Duke claimed four ACC Championships, four top 10 national rankings and three NCAA Championship quarterfinal appearances. Smith finished his career with a 118-37 singles record and 103-47 doubles ledger. A staple in the ITA singles and doubles rankings, Smith was ranked as high as No. 5 in singles in 2001 and No. 5 in doubles in 2000 with Doug Root. He was ranked in the top-10 in singles for four consecutive rankings during his senior season.

Smith was a two-time All-America, earning the honor in 2000 and 2001. He was named All-ACC three times, in 1999, 2000 and 2001, and the ACC Tournament MVP in 2000 and 2001. In addition, he was a two-time recipient of the Tennis Magazine/Arthur Ashe Sportsmanship Award and was named to the ACC's 50th Anniversary Team in 2002.

After receiving his bachelor of arts degree in economics from Duke in 2001, Smith played one year of professional tennis. He posted an ATP world ranking of 603 in singles and 723 in doubles before suffering a career-ending shoulder injury in September of 2002. He reached the semifinals at Futures Tournaments in Malibu, Calif.; Chetumal, Mexico; and Little Rock, Ark.

Following his professional career, Smith worked with the Smith Stearns Tennis Academy, where he served as a coach, camp organizer and academy secretary for three years. He also spent three summers (2003-05) as a full-time fly fishing guide with Alaska West Sportfishing.

Smith completed the USTA High Performance Coaching Program in Carson, Calif., in 2007 and is a USPTA certified Teaching Professional.

Born September 4, 1978, Ramsey and his wife, Kathy, reside in Durham with their daughter, Sofie, and son, Sandon.

JONATHAN STOKKE

Associate Head Coach • Seventh Season at Duke • Duke, 2006

Jonathan Stokke enters his seventh season on the Duke University staff and second as associate head coach. Stokke, who joined the staff in July, 2010, was an assistant coach for the previous five campaigns.

During his Duke tenure, he has been a part of five years with 20 or more wins. The 2016 season saw him oversee one of the youngest teams in the country with five freshmen on the roster. Stokke's work in doubles was evident as 32 of the team's 33 dual match wins came from a team with at least one freshman.

In the 2015 campaign, Stokke oversaw 24 victories, tied for the sixth most in a year in program history. The 24 triumphs came against a challenging schedule as the Blue Devils tallied 17 wins against ranked teams, tied for sixth on the program's single-season chart. The squad also finished the spring with eight ACC victories to extend its run to six consecutive seasons with eight or more league wins, its longest stretch since a seven-year run from 1997-2003. Stokke's guidance helped Duke to a No. 2 ranking the week of March 3, the highest for the program in 15 years.

Stokke's fourth season with the Blue Devils saw the team compile a program-record 10 ACC victories, fueled by a nine-match win streak during the spring. Duke concluded 2014 with a 20-7 record and hosted an NCAA Regional for the 13th time in school history, advancing to the second round of the NCAA Championship tournament. Under his watch, four Blue Devils earned spots on the All-ACC teams.

In 2013, Stokke helped Duke to a 25-6 record to match the 1999, 2000 and 2012 squads for the second-most wins in program history. The program also reached the quarterfinals of the NCAA Championship tournament for the eighth time in school history and earned a No. 7 listing in the final ITA rankings for the highest final team ranking since the 2006 season. The team completed its home schedule with a 15-0 record, the first undefeated regular season since the 2001 campaign. Stokke became the second coach under head coach Ramsey Smith to be named the ITA Carolina Region Assistant Coach of the Year and the third in program history.

During the 2012 campaign, Stokke directed the Blue Devils to a 25-6 record and the quarterfinals of the NCAA Championship tournament while earning a No. 8 listing in the final ITA rankings. The team also reached the ACC Championship finals for the third consecutive season, the second under the guidance of Stokke.

In his first season with the Blue Devils, Stokke helped guide the team to a 22-10 overall record and 9-2 mark in ACC play. The season was highlighted by a trip to the semifinals of the ITA National Team Indoor Championships, a round of 16 appearance in the NCAA Championship tournament and a trip to the ACC Championship finals. Stokke led Duke to an impressive year in doubles with Reid Carleton and Henrique Cunha posting a 38-7 record and advancing to the quarterfinals of the NCAA Doubles Championship to earn All-America honors.

Stokke joined the coaching staff of his alma mater after working as an assistant women's tennis coach at Wake Forest University for two years. Stokke directed the Demon Deacons to a 24-27 overall record and an NCAA Championship tournament selection in 2009. He saw two players earn spots on the 2010 All-ACC team, including Martina Pavelec, who also received the ITA Carolina Region Player to Watch award.

Prior to working at Wake Forest, Stokke spent two years providing instruction to highly ranked junior players under the guidance of Stan Smith and Billy Stearns at Smith Stearns Tennis Academy in Hilton Head, S.C.

Stokke graduated from Duke in May, 2006, with a degree in sociology and a certificate in markets and management. In 2006, he earned All-America honors in doubles with teammate Joey Atas. He was a two-time All-ACC selection in 2003 and 2004 and was named the ACC Championship MVP in 2006. He is also the first player in program history to win the ITA National Arthur Ashe Sportsmanship & Leadership Award, claiming the honor in 2006. He also earned the USTA Sportsmanship Award that season, joining Ramsey Smith as the only other player in program history to do so. Stokke also picked up numerous academic honors, including a selection to the first ever All-ACC Academic Team and three seasons on the ACC Honor Roll.

In his career at Duke, Stokke played in four straight NCAA Championship tournaments and advanced to the NCAA Round of 16 three times. In 2006 he was a captain on Duke's ACC championship team. For his career, Stokke had a 93-59 overall singles record and a 113-47 doubles mark. His 113 doubles victories rank him fifth on the all-time Duke list. He was 25-10 in singles and 28-9 in doubles in ACC matches. His 28 doubles wins place him third on the Duke career chart. He was ranked in the top 20 in the ITA in singles and top 10 in doubles during his playing career with the Blue Devils.

During his junior tennis career, Stokke won three national hard court doubles championships at Kalamazoo and three national clay court doubles championships. He also played in the U.S. Open main draw in 2001 and 2002 and was a member of the 2000 USTA Youth World Cup team. He was awarded the USTA Sportsmanship award at Kalamazoo two times. A graduate of East Chapel Hill High School, Stokke was the recipient of two sportsmanship awards at the Super National Championships and was ranked as high as No. 10 on the 2002 USTA Juniors list.

Born April 11, 1984, Stokke resides in Durham with his wife, Jeanne Cho.

DIEGO GARAVITO

Volunteer Assistant Coach • First Season at Duke • Bethune-Cookman, 2016

Diego Garavito enters his first season as a volunteer assistant coach at Duke University. He was named to his position with the men's tennis team in August, 2016.

Garavito joins Duke after graduating from Bethune-Cookman with a Bachelor of Arts in May of 2016 with a concentration on international business/business administration/finance.

The Colombia native was most recently a student volunteer assistant coach at Bethune-Cookman, assisting the head coach in daily duties on and off the court. Garavito was responsible for organizing and running practices for both the men's and women's teams. Given his wide network and contacts around the world, he was placed in charge of international recruiting.

"I am excited to welcome Diego to our coaching staff," head coach Ramsey Smith said. "Diego will be working with us full time this season, and he is going to assist in many aspects of the program. Diego aspires to be a head college tennis coach and is ready to put in the hard work here at Duke."

During the 2016 campaign as a volunteer assistant coach, Garavito helped guide Bethune-Cookman to the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference (MEAC) regular season championship. A year earlier, he was an All-MEAC Second Team honoree and set the all-time singles victories record at the school. He was the recipient of the Leader and Encourager Award for the squad in both 2014 and 2015.

Prior to his time at Bethune-Cookman, he was the top-ranked player in Colombia, participated in multiple Futures events and visited 15 countries around the world while playing ITF tournaments.

Garavito was a summer teaching professional at the Van Der Meer Tennis Academy the last two summers, assisting and supporting the academy director on scheduling activities for summer camps. Garavito worked directly with the junior groups, as well as singles and doubles clinics, and provided private lessons scheduled by the academy.

SEASON HIGHLIGHTS

• Duke had one representative in the NCAA Singles Championship, with sophomore Nicolas Alvarez, who made his second straight appearance.

• Alvarez finished as the squad's only ranked player, ending at No. 28 on the Oracle/ITA rankings.

• Freshman Vincent Lin topped the Blue Devils in singles (20) and doubles (16) wins while Alvarez and senior Josh Levine paced the squad with six league singles victories.

• Head coach Ramsey Smith moved into third place on Duke's all-time coaching wins chart with the 160th of his career, a 5-2 triumph at Boston College on March 20.

• Alvarez led the team with four match-clinching points, including ACC foe Miami. Alvarez was named the February 23 ACC Player of the Week following contest-deciding points against N.C. A&T and Charlotte.

• Duke captured a 5-2 victory against N.C. State on April 1 and improved to 102-2 in program history versus the Wolfpack.

• The Blue Devils finished the year 7-6 against non-conference opponents with wins in the last five contests.

ITA All-American Championships

The first of the three collegiate grand slam events is the ITA All-American Championships. Duke saw Marko Cerenko defeat his teammate Ramsey Smith in the 2000 semifinals and then fall in three sets in the championship match. The Blue Devils also received a run to the semifinals from Reid Carleton in 2010.

In doubles, Sven Koehler and Dmitry Muzyka advanced to the 1996 finals but suffered defeat by walkover. Reid Carleton and Henrique Cunha made the semifinals in 2010.

ACC CHAMPIONSHIPS

Led by Duke Sports Hall of Fame member Marc Flur, the 1982 Blue Devils accomplished feats above and beyond what any previous program had seen. Duke set a school record with 31 wins en route to a 31-4 season. The Blue Devils cruised through ACC competition undefeated at 7-0 to claim the program's first ACC Championship. Chiam Arlosorov was the first Blue Devil to receive the ACC Tournament MVP Award.

1991
In just his first season as the head coach at Duke University, Jay Lapidus set the tone for his coaching career by leading the Blue Devils to a 19-6 record and the ACC Championship. After a narrow 5-4 victory over Wake Forest in the first round of the ACC Tournament, Duke cruised to a 5-1 win against Clemson in the semifinals and 5-2 victory over North Carolina in the finals. Jason Rubell was chosen as the ACC Tournament MVP.

1993
The 1993 team posted a record of 24-5 and became just the second Duke squad to go through ACC play undefeated, recording an 8-0 ledger. The Blue Devils defeated Virginia, 5-2, Wake Forest, 6-1, and downed North Carolina in the championship match, 5-1. Willy Quest was tabbed ACC Tournament MVP.

1994
For the second straight season, Duke finished with a perfect record in the ACC, posting a 7-0 mark. The squad cruised to a 7-0 victory over N.C. State, easily defeated Clemson, 6-1, and came away with a 4-1 win in the ACC Championship match against Georgia Tech. Chris Pressley was awarded ACC Tournament MVP.

1995
Jay Lapidus earned his third ACC Coach of the Year award and first ITA Region II Coach of the Year honor in 1995 after coaching Duke to a 7-1 regular season record in the ACC and third consecutive ACC Championship. In the conference tournament, the Blue Devils opened with a 7-0 win against N.C. State, then edged North Carolina, 4-3, in the semifinals and pulled away from Clemson with a 5-1 victory in the finals. The ACC Tournament MVP was awarded to Philippe Moggio.

1996
The Blue Devils won their fourth straight ACC Championship with a 4-1 victory over North Carolina. They advanced to the finals with wins over Georgia Tech and Florida State. Rob Chess earned ACC Tournament MVP honors.

1998
After a year-long absence from the ACC Championship circle, Duke climbed right back in with a 4-2 victory over Virginia. The team posted its second straight undefeated conference record at 8-0. In the ACC Tournament, the Blue Devils downed N.C. State and Florida State before defeating Virginia in the finals. Dmitry Muzyka was tabbed ACC Tournament MVP.

1999
Jay Lapidus earned his second ITA Region II Coach of the Year award after guiding Duke to its seventh ACC Championship in nine years. The Blue Devils started with a 4-1 win against N.C. State in the ACC Tournament and followed with 4-0 victories over Virginia and Georgia Tech to win the title. Pedro Escudero was named ACC Tournament MVP.

2000
Duke continued its dominance, winning the ACC Championship for the third straight year and finishing the ACC season 8-0. The Blue Devils swept N.C. State, 5-0, defeated Virginia, 6-1, and downed North Carolina, 4-1, to take the conference title. Ramsey Smith added to his ACC Tournament MVP with the USTA Sportsmanship Award and ITA Region II Arthur Ashe Sportsmanship & Leadership Award.

2001
The 2001 squad continued Duke's dominance on the tennis courts with its fourth consecutive ACC Championship. The Blue Devils cruised through the regular season with an 8-0 conference record and continued to roll through the tournament. They defeated Maryland, 5-0, in the first round and advanced to the championship with a 4-1 victory over Wake Forest. They went on to sweep Clemson, 4-0, for the title. Ramsey Smith was named ACC Tournament MVP for the second straight year.

2003
In 2003, the Blue Devils finished with an 8-0 ACC record for the seventh straight season, extending the streak of 58 consecutive conference victories that would end in 2004. Duke swept Maryland and Wake Forest to begin the ACC Tournament and capped off the title run with a 4-1 victory against Clemson. Michael Yani was named ACC Tournament MVP.

2006
Duke won the 2006 ACC Championship in dramatic fashion. After losing the doubles point and two singles matches versus No. 9 Virginia, the Blue Devils trailed, 3-0. However, they stormed back to win three straight singles matches and Stephen Amritraj clinched the title with a three-set win at the No. 6 position. The Blue Devils defeated Virginia Tech, 4-1, and Florida State, 4-2, to advance to the finals. Jonathan Stokke was named ACC Tournament MVP.

Marc Flur

Duke Sports Hall of Fame

Marc Flur stands as one of the winningest tennis players in Duke history with a career record of 110-29. He is also the first Duke tennis player to be inducted into the Hall of Fame. He earned ITA All-America honors in 1983 and finished his senior season ranked No. 15 in the nation in singles. The 1983 ACC Tournament MVP, Flur is the only player in Duke history to earn five league flight championships, capturing two singles titles and three doubles crowns.

Flur also helped propel Duke to its first ever ACC Team Championship in 1982. The 1982 team also established a school record for wins in a season, compiling a 31-4 mark, and made the program's first appearance in the NCAA Championship.

Following his college career, Flur went on to play on the professional tennis tour for six years. His highest ranking was No. 71 in the world in singles and No. 60 in doubles. He played at Wimbledon five times and in the U.S. Open on six occasions.

Flur returned to Duke in 1989 to serve as an assistant coach for the men's tennis team. He worked for one season under former coach Steve Strome and two years with Jay Lapidus. During Flur's tenure, the Blue Devil teams compiled a 52-30 record and won one ACC championship.

Flur, who was inducted into the Duke Athletics Hall of Fame in 1995, now works as a Certified Financial Planner with The Piedmont Carolinas Group, LLC., in Durham.
