CHRIS POLLARD

#14 | Head Coach

18th Season | 5th Season at Duke

AT DUKE (4 SEASONS • 2013 - PRESENT)

Chris Pollard became Duke University's 25th head baseball coach in June of 2012, taking over the reins of the Blue Devil program after successful stints at Pfeiffer University and Appalachian State University.

Pollard led Duke to an at-large bid to the 2016 NCAA Tournament, ending the program's drought of 55 years without making the postseason event. After beginning the season 10-13 (1-7 ACC), the Blue Devils went 23-9 over their final 32 regular season games, including a 13-8 ACC record. During that span, Duke went 9-7 against Top 20 RPI teams, collected series victories over Georgia Tech, Clemson, Virginia Tech, Florida State and Pitt, and posted a perfect 10-0 mark in non-conference play.

With 33 wins this past season, Duke reached the 30-win mark for the third straight year, marking the program's first stretch of three-straight 30-win seasons since the Blue Devils compiled a run of seven consecutive 30-win seasons from 1992-98.

Pollard registered his 500th career win May 1, 2016 at NC State. In addition, he became the fastest Duke head coach to reach 100 wins with the Blue Devils, recording his 100th victory at Duke March 15, 2016 against UMES. He is the only Blue Devil head coach to guide the team to three 30-win seasons in his first four campaigns.

During Pollard's tenure, 11 Blue Devils have been selected in the Major League Baseball Draft, including five in 2015 in junior RHP Michael Matuella (3rd Round | No. 78 Overall | Texas Rangers), senior RHP Sarkis Ohanian (9th Round | No. 265 Overall | Cincinnati Reds), junior RHP Kenny Koplove (17th Round | No. 504 Overall | Philadelphia Phillies), senior RHP Andrew Istler (23rd Round | No. 702 | Los Angeles Dodgers) and redshirt sophomore James Marvel (36th Round | No. 1,087 Overall | Pittsburgh Pirates). Duke's five current players selected was the team's highest total since seven Blue Devils were taken in the 2009 MLB Draft, while Matuella and Ohanian became the first Duke teammates picked in the first 10 rounds of the draft since 2002.

In just his second season in Durham, Pollard led the 2014 Blue Devils to the ACC Tournament for the first time since 2009 as Duke finished fourth overall in the league standings. Duke's 16 ACC wins in 2014 tied the program record while the Blue Devils finished in the top four in the conference standings for the first time since 1994. The Blue Devils cemented their status as one of the top teams in the North Carolina, finishing the season 8-1 against in-state ACC rivals North Carolina, NC State and Wake Forest.

Duke finished the 2014 season with 33 wins, surpassing the 30-win plateau for the first time since 2009 and 11th time in program history. In addition, the Blue Devils entered the national rankings, earning the No. 30 spot in the Collegiate Baseball Newspaper national poll May 6. The 2014 Blue Devils earned a spot in the Collegiate Baseball Newspaper's rankings for the first time since the organization began its poll in 1998.

Under Pollard's guidance, three Blue Devils heard their names called during the 2014 MLB Draft and three Duke players garnered All-ACC accolades, the most since 2009.

Pollard began the task of revitalizing the program and his effect was felt immediately as the 2013 Blue Devils eclipsed their win total from the previous season, securing 26 victories for their first-year head coach. Duke's 26 victories during Pollard's inaugural campaign marked the most by a Blue Devil head coach in his first season in school history.

Duke began the ACC slate by taking two-of-three from No. 24 Miami, marking the team's first series victory over a ranked opponent since 2010. The Blue Devils would go on to shut out one of the nation's top offenses in No. 15 Georgia Tech twice in a three-game series at Jack Coombs Field, becoming the first team to blank the Yellow Jackets twice in the same series since Georgia accomplished the feat in 1955.

Pollard's first season at Duke culminated with All-ACC honors for junior third baseman Jordan Betts and sophomore second baseman Andy Perez. The duo became the first Duke position players to earn all-conference honors since Nate Freiman and Jeremy Gould appeared on the second team in 2009. In addition, Betts was the first Blue Devil third baseman named all-league since Jeff Becker in 1999, while Perez was the first Duke second baseman tabbed All-ACC since Quinton McCracken in 1992.

AT APPALACHIAN STATE (8 SEASONS • 2005-12)

Prior to accepting the head coaching position at Duke, Pollard successfully transformed an Appalachian State program saddled with back-to-back 10-win seasons into a team on the verge of the College World Series.

Pollard garnered 2012 Southern Conference Coach of the Year honors after leading Appalachian State to its most accomplished season in the program's 109-year history as the Mountaineers set a school record for victories with a 41-18 overall record in addition to winning the Southern Conference championship with a 21-9 league mark. Appalachian State earned a berth to the 2012 NCAA Championship and advanced to the championship round of the Charlottesville Regional with victories over national powers Virginia and Oklahoma.

In addition, the 2012 Mountaineers won their first conference championship since 1987, advanced to NCAA postseason play for the first time since 1986 and won their first NCAA Tournament game since 1973. Appalachian State also claimed four wins over nationally-ranked opponents and spent six weeks in the national rankings. Prior to the record-breaking 2012 campaign, the Mountaineers boasted just one win over a nationally-ranked team since 1982 and one appearance in a major college baseball poll.

Pollard took the helm of the Mountaineer program in 2004 and guided ASU to 24 wins, four more than the previous two seasons combined, in his second season with the program. Six consecutive 30-win seasons would follow as the Mountaineers won at least one Southern Conference Tournament game every season and finished among the top 50 teams in the Ratings Percentage Index (RPI) rankings twice during that span.

Pollard's tenure at Appalachian State was punctuated by his ability to recruit top-notch talent. After Appalachian State went without a Major League Baseball draftee for a dozen years, three members of Pollard's initial ASU recruiting class were selected in the first 12 rounds of the 2008 MLB Draft. In total, Appalachian State produced 13 MLB draftees under Pollard's watch, including a school-record four in both 2008 and 2012.

AT PFEIFFER UNIVERSITY (5 SEASONS • 2000-04)

Prior to his arrival at Appalachian, Pollard served as the head coach at Pfeiffer University from 2000-04. In his final year at Pfeiffer, he coached the Falcons to the winningest season in school history, a 41-14 campaign that culminated with its second straight Carolinas-Virginia Athletics Conference regular season championship and a berth in the 2004 NCAA Division II South Atlantic Regional. In addition, Pfeiffer reached as high as No. 2 in the South Atlantic Regional rankings and No. 109 in the national polls according to Collegiate Baseball newspaper. Pollard was named the 2004 CVAC Coach of the Year both by the league's coaches and the American Baseball Coaches Association for his efforts.

Similar to his time at Appalachian State, Pollard took over a Pfeiffer squad which had suffered three losing seasons in the four years prior to his arrival and began a rebuilding project that led to the Falcons' record improving in each of his five seasons as head coach. In addition, he also served as Pfeiffer's director of athletics for the 2003-04 year, overseeing the daily supervision of the school's 16 varsity sports, including NCAA compliance, budget and salary management, public relations, fundraising and facility oversight.

AT DAVIDSON

Before his stint at Pfeiffer, Pollard served as an assistant coach at his alma mater, Davidson College. His primary responsibilities for the Wildcat staff included serving as the team's pitching coach and recruiting coordinator.

Pollard also gained coaching experience in the NCAA-certified Coastal Plain Summer League as the head coach of the Durham Braves in 1998 and pitching coach with the Rocky Mount Rock Fish in 1997.

As a player at Davidson from 1993-96, Pollard became just the third pitcher in program history to win 20 games for a career. He ranks among the top 10 in Davidson history with 20 wins (3rd), 168 strikeouts (8th), 59 appearances (t-7th), 309 innings pitched (4th), 39 starts (6th) 18 complete games (t-7th) and two shutouts (t-3rd). As a sophomore, Pollard defeated both No. 1 Georgia Tech and No. 25 Western Carolina before tying an NCAA record by earning victories in both ends of a doubleheader versus Georgia Southern as a junior.

JOSH JORDAN

#12 | Associate Head Coach/Recruiting Coordinator

4th Season at Duke

AT DUKE (4 SEASONS • 2013 - PRESENT)

Josh Jordan joined the Duke baseball program in June of 2012 and was promoted to Associate Head Coach in July of 2015. He begins his fifth season with the Blue Devils in 2016-17. Jordan serves as the program's recruiting coordinator while also working with the Blue Devil catchers and outfielders. In addition, he teaches both hitting and base running.

As the program's recruiting coordinator, Jordan has helped bring in top-level talent during his first four years in Durham. Duke reaped the benefits of Jordan's efforts in 2016, earning an at-large bid to the NCAA Tournament while relying heavily on a corps of talented underclassmen.

The Blue Devils' 2015 class was highly-touted and featured eight players ranked among Perfect Game's top 500 prospects in the country. Duke's 13-player 2014 recruiting class ranked No. 16 in the nation according to Perfect Game as well. Five Duke commits -- junior Justin Bellinger, junior Chris McGrath, freshman Adam Laskey, freshman Matt Mervis and first-round selection Will Benson -- were selected in the Major League Baseball Draft coming out of high school.

Jordan has been instrumental to the Blue Devils' success over the past three seasons, including back-to-back-back 30 win campaigns in 2014-16. With a 31-22 overall record in 2015, the Blue Devils recorded 30 wins for the 12th time in program history and back-to-back 30 win seasons for the first time since 2008-09. In 2014, Duke surpassed 30 wins for the first time since 2009. After Duke was picked to finish fifth in the Coastal Division in the 2014 ACC Preseason Coaches Poll, the Blue Devils ended the regular season fourth overall in the league standings. Duke posted a 16-14 ACC record and finished in the top four in the conference for the first time since 1994. In addition, the Blue Devils' 16 league wins tied the program record, also set in 1994. Duke swept four ACC series in the same season for the first time since 1994 as well.

During Jordan's time in Durham, 11 Blue Devils have been selected in the Major League Baseball Draft, including five in 2015 in junior RHP Michael Matuella (3rd Round | No. 78 Overall | Texas Rangers), senior RHP Sarkis Ohanian (9th Round | No. 265 Overall | Cincinnati Reds), junior RHP Kenny Koplove (17th Round | No. 504 Overall | Philadelphia Phillies), senior RHP Andrew Istler (23rd Round | No. 702 | Los Angeles Dodgers) and redshirt sophomore James Marvel (36th Round | No. 1,087 Overall | Pittsburgh Pirates). Duke's five current players selected was the team's highest total since seven Blue Devils were taken in the 2009 MLB Draft, while Matuella and Ohanian became the first Duke teammates picked in the first 10 rounds of the draft since 2002.

With Jordan's assistance, Duke has earned eight All-ACC selections over the past three years, including three all-conference picks in 2014. Duke's three All-ACC selections in 2014 were the most since Duke placed three on the all-conference teams in 2009.

AT APPALACHIAN STATE (6 SEASONS • 2007-12)

Prior to his arrival in Durham, Jordan spent six seasons as an assistant coach under current Duke head coach Chris Pollard at Appalachian State. The Mountaineers won 30 or more games in each of Jordan's six seasons with the program.

Jordan was key in Appalachian State's stellar 2012 campaign, a season which saw the Mountaineers set a school record for victories with a 41-18 overall record. The Mountaineers captured the Southern Conference championship and earned a berth to the NCAA Championship, advancing to the championship round of the Charlotte Regional with wins over national powers Virginia and Oklahoma.

While in Boone, Jordan supervised the development of 17 players ultimately selected in the MLB Draft. Prior to Jordan and Pollard's arrival, Appalachian State had not produced a Major League Baseball draftee since the 1996 campaign.

EARLY YEARS

Before joining the ASU staff, Jordan spent the 2006 season with Young Harris College, helping the Mountain Lions to a runner-up finish in the 2006 National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA) Region XVII Tournament. Prior to his stint at Young Harris, Jordan spent two seasons at Fort Hays State in Hays, Kan. He began his time at Fort Hays as a graduate assistant in 2004 before becoming the Tigers' top assistant and recruiting coordinator the following year.

Jordan holds a B.A. in social studies education from Catawba and also earned an M.S. in exercise science from Fort Hays State in 2005. A native of Gastonia, N.C., he was a four-year letterwinner and an all-conference performer at Hunter Huss High School from 1995-98.

PETE MAKI

#26 | Assistant Coach/Pitching Coach

2nd Season at Duke

AT DUKE (2015 - PRESENT)

Assistant coach Pete Maki joined the Duke baseball staff in July of 2015 and enters his second season with the Blue Devils in 2016-17, serving as the team's pitching coach. Maki's influence was felt immediately in 2016 as Duke earned an at-large bid to the NCAA Tournament, ending a 55-year drought. Duke's pitching staff ranked fourth in the ACC with a 3.79 ERA, while three Blue Devil pitchers -- Bailey Clark, James Ziemba and Brian McAfee -- were selected in the 2016 MLB Draft.

In 2016, Duke was the only program with two pitchers ranked among the ACC's top five in fewest walks allowed per nine innings in McAfee and Kellen Urbon. In addition, McAfee earned ACC Pitcher of the Week accolades following a 94-pitch shutout versus then-No. 14 Virginia.

In addition to strong starting pitching, the Blue Devils also used a core group of seven relievers who each made 15 or more appearances out of the bullpen. That group posted a combined 2.95 ERA over 146.1 innings, while Mitch Stallings ranked fourth in the ACC with nine saves.

AT COLUMBIA (8 SEASONS | 2008-15)

Maki joined the Blue Devils after eight seasons as the pitching coach and recruiting coordinator at Columbia University. He joined the Lions as an assistant coach in 2008 and was promoted to associate head coach in 2012.

The Lions enjoyed tremendous success during Maki's tenure, capturing four Ivy League Championships including three-straight from 2013-15. The Columbia pitching staff was consistently among the best in the Ivy League under Maki's guidance, leading the conference in team ERA, opposing batting average, strikeouts and hits allowed in Ivy League games in three of Maki's final four seasons.

In 2015, Columbia won its third-straight Ivy title and advanced to the final game of the NCAA Coral Gables Regional. The Lions totaled a program-record 17 saves while Adam Cline became Columbia's all-time saves leader. In addition, Harrisen Egly notched five saves and collected Louisville Slugger Freshman All-America honors while four pitchers on the 2015 squad garnered All-Ivy citations.

Under Maki's guidance, staff ace David Speer was named the 2014 Ivy League Pitcher of the Year, the second pitcher during Maki's tenure to collect the honor and the first unanimous choice since 2004. In 2013, the pitching staff set a program record with 357 strikeouts and ranked 29th nationally with a 2.48:1 strikeout-to-walk ratio.

The Lions had a pitcher taken in the Major League Baseball Draft in each of Maki's final four seasons after sending a total of six pitchers to the draft in program history prior to Maki's tenure. Additionally, Columbia's Tim Giel and Joe Donino signed free agent contracts with the Yankees in 2013 and the Diamondbacks in 2014, respectively.

Maki reunited with former head coach Brett Boretti when he joined the Columbia coaching staff in February 2008. A 2004 graduate of Franklin & Marshall College in Lancaster, Pa., Maki lettered four seasons as a left-handed pitcher under Boretti's tutelage at Franklin and Marshall.

Prior to his arrival at Columbia, Maki served as an assistant coach at the University of New Haven from 2006-07. He oversaw a pitching staff that led the East Coast Conference in ERA and strikeout-to-walk ratio in both 2006 and 2007. Three of his pitchers during that time went on to play professionally as well.

COLLEGE CAREER

Maki graduated from Franklin and Marshall in 2004 with a bachelor's degree in psychology and sociology. As a senior, he recorded six saves, posted a team-best 3.42 ERA and was named the squad's Cy Young award winner. Additionally, Maki pitched in the prestigious Cape Cod League and the New England Collegiate Baseball League during his collegiate career.

JASON STEIN

#29 | Assistant Coach/Hitting Coach

2nd Season at Duke

AT DUKE (1 SEASON | 2015 - PRESENT)

Jason Stein joined the Duke baseball staff in August of 2015. In addition to serving as the team's hitting coach, Stein works with the Blue Devil infielders, coaches third base during games, coordinates the team's community service efforts and manages the program's on-campus facilities.

In Stein's first season with the program, Duke earned an at-large bid to the 2016 NCAA Tournament, ending a drought of 55 years without making the postseason event. After beginning the season 10-13 (1-7 ACC), the Blue Devils went 23-9 over their final 32 regular season games, including a 13-8 record in the ACC.

The Blue Devils did not start an upperclassmen position player for most of the season, relying heavily on a talented group of sophomores and freshmen. Under Stein's guidance, freshman Jimmy Herron and sophomore Jack Labosky collected second team All-ACC honors.

With his 2016 all-conference selection, Herron became the first Duke rookie named All-ACC since 1997. Herron also garnered Louisville Slugger Freshman All-America accolades after leading the team in hits, doubles and stolen bases.

After recording just three extra base hits in 2015, Labosky was named a semifinalist for the 2016 Gregg Olson Award, presented annually to college baseball's breakout player of the year. Labosky emerged as one of Duke's top hitters, leading the team in on base percentage, runs, RBI, home runs, total bases, walks and time hit by pitch.

AT EASTERN KENTUCKY (7 SEASONS | 2009-15)

Prior to his arrival in Durham, Stein served as the head coach at Eastern Kentucky from 2009-15. Over the course of his EKU head coaching career, Stein compiled a 178-201 record and led the Colonels to the six-team Ohio Valley Conference Tournament in four of his seven seasons. The Ashland, Ky., native recruited and coached five Major League Draft selections, nine All-Americans, 24 All-OVC picks, and two OVC Freshmen of the Year and the 2012 OVC Pitcher of the Year.

Eastern Kentucky was routinely among the national leaders in home runs per game during Stein's tenure, ranking among the top 10 in three of the past four seasons. This past season was no exception as Eastern Kentucky once again ranked among the national offensive leaders, amassing 59 home runs and a .450 slugging percentage. The 2015 Colonels ranked fifth in the country in home runs per game while coming in 22nd nationally in slugging percentage.

The 2012 Ohio Valley Conference Coach of the Year, Stein guided the Colonels to a share of the OVC regular season title in 2012. After EKU was picked to finish sixth in the league, Stein led Eastern Kentucky to the program's first OVC regular season championship since 2000. EKU placed five players on all-conference teams, including OVC Pitcher of the Year Matt Fyffe. In addition, Eastern Kentucky belted 66 homers that season and led the national in home runs per game (1.22). The 2012 Colonels also ranked among the top-30 in the country in slugging percentage (4th), doubles (6th) and scoring (23rd).

Considered among the top offensive coaches nationally, Stein presented his base running system at the 2010 American Baseball Coaches Association's national convention in Dallas, one of the highest attended lectures with over 5,000 attendees.

AT BELMONT UNIVERSITY (4 SEASONS | 2001-05)

Prior to his arrival at Eastern Kentucky, Stein served as an assistant coach/recruiting coordinator at Belmont University from 2001-05. During that span, he coached nine players selected in the MLB Draft, including the highest pick in school history (Blake Owen | 2005 MLB Draft | 6th Round | Baltimore Orioles).

As a member of the Belmont staff, Stein helped the Bruins set program records in home runs, RBI, total bases and stolen bases. Belmont swiped 518 bases during his time, posting a school record 124 in 2005.
